

SUMMER INTENSIVE 2025

from August 4th – August 8th 2025

For the first time, there will be a Summer Intensive in Zurich: anundpfirsich will become a melting pot for improv during the hot months. In the first edition, KATY SCHUTTE and EMILIA WEBER will be sharing their different point of views on the same topics. You will work with both of them for 2.5 days each.

CONTENT

In one week you will work with both trainers for two and a half days each – the same topics will be explored from two different perspectives:

SCENE WORK

KATY SCHUTTE

- Comedy-focused scene work. We'll look at Game of the Scene from both technical and emotional angles and practice bringing the things that amuse us into our work.

EMILIA WEBER

- Non Comedy-focused scene work. We'll explore the depth and nuance of scenes from both technical and emotional angles by exploring the storylines rising in relationships. We will practice how to bring sincerity and authentic connection into our work – so scenes can unfold naturally emotions and interpersonal dynamics.

CHARACTER WORK

KATY SCHUTTE

- We'll experiment with point-of-view based character comedy; with immediate punchlines as well as slow-burn situational comedy.

EMILIA WEBER

- We'll explore how each character stays connected to its truth and the improvisors brain, so that every improviser can actively decide about the story and the connection to our scene partner without losing the character or being only driven by the character.

IMPROVISOR'S MINDSET

KATY SCHUTTE

- We'll look at how to support ourselves and our scene partners in making the work that we are excited to make. We'll learn how to deal with things that stress us out or get in our way.

EMILIA WEBER

- We'll dive into the essence of "Yes, And," going beyond the basics to fully embrace and build on what's genuinely present in each moment - being inspired by and inspire the partner. We'll explore how to support each other. Addressing ways to handle any stress that arises, so we can stay connected and committed to the collaboration.
